Glossary

Get familiar with the different words and expressions you will encounter while using the Whispli platform

Report: in the platform, a Report refers to a disclosure you receive, sent by an employee or individual from your Organization.

Project: a way to organise Reports together to aid with investigations or to help with your overall management of Reports. Examples of how you can organise Reports could be related to a specific incident, office location, type of misconduct, or related to an employee.

Dashboard: when logging into your account, you will directly arrive on your Dashboard, which helps bring together all your information, including your current Reports.

Page: a Page provides you with the ability to communicate your whistleblower program to your employees and stakeholders. Pages also allow you to integrate a channel so employees can submit anonymous reports to you.

Channel: a channel is a way that an informant can submit information to you through a specific medium (Form, sms, email etc.)

Workflow: the questions you will answer as a Case Manager as you assess, investigate, and close out a case.

Update your Settings

Learn how to set up Whispli specific for your individual settings.

You can find your Settings in the left column on your screen. In Whispli's Settings tab, the options are split between the Settings specific to you as an individual (the profile Settings) and the Settings your organisation has. Every user has access to the profile Settings, but only Administrators have access to the Organisation Settings.

Role(s) of this user

- Configurator
Configurators can configure Whispli but cannot access any Report or Project. They will also be able to manage all Settings, except billing.
- Member
By default, all Users are Members. They will need to be invited to Reports or Projects to have access to them.
- Admin (restricted)
Admin (Restricted) users have the same permissions as Admin, but can only access Reports and Projects they are a member of and unassigned reports.
- Admin
Admin users have all permissions: they can see all data, manage users, settings and billing.

User Roles

You can have different roles and permissions in Whispli. Learn more on what you can access and do with your role:

Member

By default, all Users are Members. With this role, you will need to be invited to Reports or Projects to have access to them. However, if a Report does not have any owner yet, you're able to take ownership of that report by being the first person to open it.

Configurator

Configurators can configure Whispli but cannot access any Report or Project. With this role, you can access the Pages, Channels and Workflows tabs. You're also able to manage all Settings, except billing.

Admin

Admin users have all permissions: they can see all data, manage users, settings and billing. With this role, you have a full visibility on your Organization's account. You can also take ownership of any Report at any time, as well as lock specific Reports so other Members cannot access it.

Admin (restricted)

Admin restricted users have the same permissions as Admin, but can only access to Reports and Projects they are a member of or unassigned Reports.

Your Dashboard

Learn about what information your dashboard can provide:

When you log into Whispli, you first arrive on your Dashboard. The goal of the Dashboard is to provide you with an overview of everything you are working on in Whispli. This includes seeing your overall statistics about your activity in Whispli, along with a list of the latest Reports and Projects.

In addition to statistics and the latest activity, in the upper-right hand corner, you can see any new alerts or notifications that you might have received, as well as seeing your past alerts.

Access a Report

To go into an individual report, click on the Report ID or Informant Name, which will open up the Report and give you access in one screen to the details of the Report, the Chat with the informant, your Workflow, as well as any related information. In the example below, clicking on 33 or Navy Hamster will take you to the entire report.

The screenshot displays the Whispli Reports interface. On the left, a table lists reports with columns for Report, ID, Internal title, Status, and Owner. The first report is 'Navy Hamster' with ID 33 and status 'Open'. The second is 'Amber Sun' with ID 45 and status 'New'. On the right, a detailed view for the 'Navy Hamster' report is shown, including the Report ID (33), a status indicator 'Ouvert', and tabs for 'Details', 'Activity', and 'Related'. A red box highlights a share icon in the top right corner of the detailed view.

2-way communication

Learn how you can reply back to informants using 2-way, anonymous communication:

Reply

To respond or send a message to an informant, you can click "Reply" and then type out your message. When you are ready to send your message, click on the paper airplane icon located on the right-hand side of the chatbox.

If you send a message in error or want to revise your message, you can retract it. Hover your cursor over the message and you will see an "x" appear. Click and you will be able to retract your message.

The screenshot displays a chat interface with two messages. The first message is a blue bubble from user 'AB' containing the text: "I wanted to provide you an update that we are still investigating this incident and interviewing potential witnesses. I wanted to let you know that we take this seriously and we are putting he resources into understanding what happened here." Below the message is a timestamp "a month ago". The second message is a yellow bubble from user 'Simo Dinoune' containing the text: "How are things coming along in settings up a time to interview the potential witnesses that you mentioned ?". Below this message is a timestamp "Internal note · a month ago". At the bottom of the chat box, there are two tabs: "Reply" (which is selected and underlined) and "Note". Below the tabs is a text input field with the placeholder text "Reply to the informant...". To the right of the input field is a paper airplane icon for sending the message. Below the input field is a paperclip icon for attaching files.

In the Activity screen of a Report, as a Case Manager can leave notes for colleagues that are assigned to the Report:

Note

Clicking on "Note" will allow you to leave a message for anyone that is a Member of the Report. Notes are not seen by informants and they provide you a way to both communicate and/or document what is happening with an informant.

To leave a Note, click on Note and then type in "@". A dropdown list of the people you can leave a note for will show. You can add multiple people to a note and they will all receive an email alert letting them know they have been mentioned on a Report.

N.B. Notes are shaded yellow, both after they are sent as well as in the chatbox to help better identify them. In case you accidentally send a Note (meant for internal communication) as a Reply (to an informant), you can retract this and resend as a Note.

Complete your Workflow

Workflows are the processes that your organization uses to manage investigations.

Workflows can automatically be assigned to a Report or you manually can choose which Workflow to utilise.

Following a Workflow allows you to go through the processes your Organization has set up and help ensure consistency as cases are investigated.

If you're in charge of the Report or part of the investigative team, you'll be required to complete the questions and steps as you progress in your investigation.

Create a Project

Learn what a project consists of and how you can use them to organise your Reports:

A Project is a way to organise Reports together for to aid with investigations or to help with your overall management of Reports. Examples of how you can organise Reports could be related to a specific incident, office location, type of misconduct, or related to an employee.

Projects provide you with an extensive workspace to collaborate with team members, manage multiple Reports together, and add files to your Project.

You can also use a Project to upload a report received outside of the platform (through email, fax, the transcripts/notes of a phone call or a face-to-face meeting).

The screenshot shows the 'Create a Project' interface in Whispli. On the left, there is a sidebar with the following elements: 'Project ID: 5', a text input field containing 'Bullying', a dropdown menu set to 'Nouveau', a 'Description' field containing 'This Project organises all the reports related to Bullying', and 'Details of the Project' which shows 'Last updated: in 4 minutes'. The central workspace contains a message from 'Paula Beltran2' stating: 'This project contains all reports related to Bullying. Please make sure to start the investigation as soon as possible. Thank you'. Below the message is a 'Translated from English' indicator and a 'See Original' link. At the bottom of the workspace is a text input field with a placeholder 'Mention someone with @' and a send button. The right sidebar shows 'Members (2) / Groups (1)', 'MEMBERS' with 'Amal Bouzbouz (Owner)' and 'Divine Diakanua', 'GROUPS (1 USER)' with 'Ressources Humaines (1 us...)' and 'Paula Beltran2', and 'Tags (1)' with 'Bullying'. At the bottom of the interface, there is a 'Workflow : Procédure d'investigation V2' and a 'Required' status indicator.
